The Electronic Newsletter for T Heights Books

One of our local animal foster caregivers had room for another dog and was surfing the sites to see what was out there. She found a dog that was slated for euthanasia that day. The shelter was quite a distance away, but she called telling them if they would hold the euthanasia off a day, she promised to drive down the next day to pick it up. They agreed, and she got ready to make the trip. Before she even started on the drive, though, she got a call from the shelter telling her that the dog's owner had shown up to claim the dog. He'd been in the hospital and just got out. She wouldn't need to come get it. She was horrified at how close that man came to losing his pet and how close the dog came to losing its life.

Sometimes, that's all it takes—an extra day. You can give some extra days to other dogs by fostering, volunteering, and donating to local rescue groups. You can also buy Robin Kould and Mary Yen Rescue books by T Heights and encourage others to do the same. The profits from the sales of these books are donated to dog rescue.
